

A nighttime photograph of a city street corner. In the foreground, a three-story brick building with arched windows and doorways is illuminated from within, casting a warm orange glow. A sign above the main entrance reads "WESTWOOD PL". Several people are standing on the sidewalk in front of the building. In the background, modern high-rise buildings with lit-up windows rise into the dark sky. The word "BANQUETS" is overlaid in large, white, sans-serif capital letters across the center of the image.
